IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our son, Dwight Lampkin, who passed away 1 year ago, December 31.

One long year has passed since our greatest sorrow fell,
The shock we had that evening
We still remember well.
God gave us strength to bear it.
And courage to meet the blow,
But what it meant to lose you,
The world will never know.
Sadly missed by his Mother, Father, Sisters, Brothers and Grandmother

Highlights Of Conservation - 1976

Robert E. McClenny, Jr.

Since 1940, the Robert E. Lee Soil & Water Conservation District has promoted the conservation and enhancement of the soil, water and related plant and wildlife resources of the area. These are still the district's primary goals and can be accomplished through application of sound conservation practices.

The Soil Conservation Service provided technical services to 4431 district cooperators in the Robert E. Lee Soil and Water Conservation District during the past year. SCS personnel located in Amherst, Appomattox and Rustburg provided 1,340 services to district cooperators. Also, 81 services were provided to local governments which include reviewing and commenting on 9 erosion and sediment control plans.

Visible conservation practices applied include planting 64 acres of critically eroding areas, constructing 8 ponds and constructing 8 stock watering troughs for livestock. Steel forms used in construction of stock watering troughs are available for rent from the Campbell County and Lynchburg. Both Appomattox and Amherst Counties have requested a soil survey. Modern soils information is available for 39% of the state. Soil scientists working for SCS and VPI&SU are currently working to produce published soil survey data for 18 counties.

One of the most popular conservation practices applied to cropland for erosion control last year was no-till farming. No-till cuts soil losses by 85-90% over conventional tillage.

Construction is well under way in the Buffalo River Watershed project. The four reservoir sites are being purchased by Amherst County for public recreation. Two of the sites will provides municipal water.

Field data is being collected for designing flood control reservoirs in the upper Appomattox River Watershed project. SCS is requesting that Congress authorize planning on the upper Appomattox project during its next session.

Top priority for the district this year was assisting local governments in implementing their erosion and sediment control ordinance. The district held training sessions for inspectors, developers, engineers, contractors, etc. About 75 people received training. Dr. Franklin Flint served as Chairman of the Conservation Education Committee. Campbell County has entered into an agreement with the district. The district reviews all erosion and sediment control plans and monitors erosion and sediment control practices applied as needed.

Outstanding conservation work in the district is featured on the farm tour co-sponsored by Fidelity National Bank. The tour was planned by the Farm Tour Committee. Charles Farriss served as chairman.

The Robert E. Lee District supports the state and national associations. Dr. Franklin Flint serves as Area V Director of the Virginia Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Other district accomplishments are providing a scholarship for a teacher to attend conservation short course, promoting soil stewardship week and promoting participation in soils judging contests.

The district has several slide presentations with cassette tapes on soils and conservation. These are suitable for youth or adult audiences and are available for loan from the district office in Appomattox.

All programs and services of the Robert E. Lee Soil and Water Conservation District and the USDA Soil Conservation Service are available to everyone.

Ashley Anderson, 18, of Rt. 1, New Canton, received a $1,000 scholarship from The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, sponsor of the 4-H automotive program.

The eight winners, selected by the Cooperative Extension Service, were presented with their awards at the 55th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28-Dec. 2.

Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Anderson, ground the valves in the 1956 vehicle, resurfaced the valve seats, installed a new valve guide and installed new main and connecting rod bearing inserts. He honed the cylinders and installed new rings and gaskets. The youth installed new power bucket seats and a stero tape player.

Anderson also installed a floor shift, rebuilt the differential, installing 4.11 to 1 gears, and made and installed traction bars. He upholstered the door panels in black leather pleats and replated the chrome dash. The youth also did 100 hours of body work, straightening dents and filling rust holes.

Then he painted the auto with seven coats of red lacquer, replaced the battery, and exhaust system, rebuilt the generator and carburetor and installed new radiator and heater hoses.

Anderson then sold the Chevrolet and bought a 1947 Willy Jeep and a 1966 GTO and has been making numerous improvements on both of these vehicles. He sought parts for the Jeep engine for six months in five counties before getting the ones he needed to overhaul it.

He recently rebuilt the automatic transmission in the GTO, then replaced the carbeurator, brake shoes, brake drums, and shock absorbers.

The Buckingham County youth, a seven-year 4-Her, is a high school senior and is undecided on a career. His other projects have included forestry, public speaking and safety.

His mother is the former Virginia Moss of Gladstone.
